ACCT 5210 Introductory Auditing (mandatory)

(5) Course Description

This course builds on the knowledge base from Introductory Auditing, to provide students with an in-depth understanding of professional standards, the audit process, advanced auditing techniques, and the auditor's role in ensuring that publicly issued financial statements are fairly presented. Students will apply auditing procedures to financial statement transaction cycles, and conduct audit sampling and testing techniques using specialized data analysis software. The course will also cover advanced topics concerning complex auditing judgments, and the use of audit software tools.

(6) Learning Outcomes

In this Advanced Auditing course, students will build on their understanding of audit theory and its application to the audit of financial statements. The emphasis of this course is on the practical application of audit procedures to realistic financial audit case scenarios. Upon completion of this course, students will gain proficiency in audit planning, evidence collection and documentation, evaluation of internal control, and assessment of fraud risk. Students will also learn to employ computer-based audit testing techniques to conduct analytical review procedures, statistical sampling, tests of controls and substantive tests of a company's financial statements.

(8) Delivery Mode: On-Line

Weekly classes will be conducted live, on-line, via Blackboard Collaborate, accessible from the UVA Collab course website. The course delivery is synchronous, meaning you will log-in to a live lecture each week for our scheduled class session.

Your coursework each week will begin with a chapter reading assignment from our text, where you will gain initial exposure to the material. It is vital that you complete the reading assignment prior to the lecture for that topic, in order to get the most out of our on-line meeting time together. All homework solutions and a copy of the lecture slides will be made available on our UVA Collab course site following each class session.

During our on-line class sessions, the instructor will introduce the material with a lecture along with PowerPoint slides viewable via Blackboard Collaborate. Following the lecture, the instructor will lead a group discussion, review homework solutions, and answer any questions that students have on the current week's material. During our class sessions, you will be expected to participate online via chat or audio, so your attendance is mandatory for the entire class session. The instructor will frequently call on students to respond to questions from the homework, and will encourage group discussion and student input.

(9) Communication and Student Participation

This course will be taught primarily in a discussion mode, via our on-line course delivery system, BlackBoard Collaborate. To get the most out of this course, you must be prepared to discuss the readings and homework problems on the dates that they are due, per the course schedule in Attachment A. To prepare for class professionally, you should read the textbook chapter prior to class, complete all assigned homework problems, and be ready to enthusiastically engage in class discussion. You should be ready for each class session with a list of questions on anything that you do not understand from the assigned reading or homework, and be prepared to discuss your opinions on auditing issues covered in that week's chapter reading. Remember that as a professional accountant or auditor, you will often be required communicate with your clients and auditees in a virtual setting, such as an on-line meeting or conference call. This course will help prepare you for that virtual setting, and assist you in improving your online professional presence.

In addition to our on-line class sessions, your instructor will be available via email and phone (per the syllabus contact information provided), and will make every effort to respond to emails or calls within one day.

(10) Assessment Components-Class Requirements

A. On-Line Class Attendance

On-line attendance is very important for success in this course. The lecture and class discussion are an integral part of the instructional program, and because each class session, in sequence, builds on the previous one; it essential that you not miss an on-line class meeting. For those rare occasions where it is not possible for you to log-in to class due to work related travel or illness, it is your responsibility to complete the assigned reading and homework, and to be ready for the next on-line class meeting.

SYLLABUS- ACCOUNTING 5250: Advanced Auditing (SPRING 2017)

B. Homework and Assigned Reading

Chapter reading assignments and homework are extremely important to your learning. It is your responsibility to read the information and complete the homework prior to the class covering that topic. I will review and grade your completed homework solutions to ensure that you are keeping up, and to help me identify areas where you might be having difficulty. I will also solve, during our on-line class sessions, as many of the auditing case problems as time permits. The homework assignments must be completed on the McGraw-Hill Connect site by 6:30PM for the assigned week in order to receive full credit. Late homework assignments will not be accepted.

C. Auditing Case Study

In addition to the multiple-choice and short case questions at the end of each chapter, homework for this course will also consist of a comprehensive audit case study, where the student will complete actual audit test procedures using Microsoft Excel. The case will be a realistic business audit scenario, using fictitious data, allowing the student to follow the typical audit testing steps for each financial statement area.

D. Examinations

There will be one mid-term and a final examination at the end of the semester. The examinations will be multiple choice and short answer, and will closely mirror the format of assigned multiple choice homework problems. All scheduled examinations will be conducted on-line and will begin at the regular class convening time. Each examination has a time limit based on the number of questions, timed via your test session log-in. You are expected to complete each exam on the date identified in the Course Schedule (Attachment A). If you cannot be on-line for a scheduled examination, it will be necessary for you to schedule a make-up examination with the instructor. All make-up examinations must be completed before the next scheduled class. A make-up final examination, however, must be completed within two working days after the scheduled final examination. All make-up examinations will use a different test version from the examination given at the regularly scheduled time.

E. On-Line Learning Management System

This course will utilize the UVA Collab on-line Learning Management System, in addition to the McGraw-Hill Connect textbook website. Students will need a UVA computing ID and password, as well as a UVA email account. A personal computer running Internet Explorer, Safari or Mozilla Firefox is required in order to access the course site. Our UVA Collab site will allow web browser access to the syllabus, schedule, announcements, homework and project assignments. In addition, the instructor may post optional reading material or links to useful websites for research or to further clarify topics discussed in class.

F. On-Line Class Participation

On-line participation, via our BlackBoard Collaborate class sessions, is very important to your learning process in this course. To track and evaluate your level of participation, the points awarded for on-line class participation will vary from zero to 50 for the semester. As a guide, a score of 50 will be given to a student who logs in for each scheduled class session, is prepared, volunteers answers, asks good questions, and offers his or her opinion while respectfully listening to the opinions of others. A score of 35 will be given to a student who does all of the above, but only occasionally volunteers thoughtful questions and opinions. A student who attends every class session, but rarely volunteers an answer will get 15-20 points. Lack of meaningful participation and sporadic online attendance will result in zero points awarded.

S (satisfactory) and U (unsatisfactory) are used for some course offerings. For noncredit courses, the grade notation is N (no credit). Students who audit courses receive the designation AU (audit). Please visit www.scps.virginia.edu/audience/students/grades for more information.

Attendance: Students are expected to attend all on-line class sessions. Instructors establish attendance and participation requirements for each of their courses. Class requirements, regardless of delivery mode, are not waived due to a student's absence from class. Instructors will require students to make up any missed coursework and may deny credit to any student whose absences are excessive. Instructors must keep an attendance record for each student enrolled in the course to document attendance and participation in the class.

University Email Policies: Students are expected to check their official UVA email addresses on a frequent and consistent basis to remain informed of University communications, as certain communications may be time sensitive. Students who fail to check their email on a regular basis are responsible for any resulting consequences.

End-of-Class Evaluations: Students are expected to complete the online end-of-class evaluation. As the semester comes to a close, students will receive an email with instructions for completing this. Student feedback will be very valuable to the school, the instructor, and future students. We ask that all students please complete these evaluations in a timely manner. Please be assured that the information you submit online will be anonymous and kept confidential.

University of Virginia Honor System: All work should be pledged in the spirit of the Honor System at the University of Virginia. The instructor will indicate which assignments and activities are to be done individually and which permit collaboration. The following pledge should be written out at the end of all quizzes, examinations, individual assignments and papers: "I pledge that I have neither given nor received help on this examination (quiz, assignment, etc.)". The pledge must be signed by the student. For more information, visit www.virginia.edu/honor.
